

Probate – Our Service and the Costs

At Peacock & Co Solicitors, we want to be as clear with you as possible about our costs. However, we are conscious that client matters are very individual and there is no ‘one size that fits all’. For probate matters, we tend not to focus on fixed fees as these are often artificially inflated when factoring in property prices in London and Surrey.

We have set out below our pricing structures. However, we do encourage you to contact us for a more realistic estimate of fees. We would be delighted to talk through your options for an initial 30-minute meeting at no cost to you and no obligation.

Disbursements

There are certain costs that need to be paid outside of our fees. These are the some of the more usual disbursements, which may or may not apply in your matter:

- Probate Court fee: from £155 - £160
- Swearing of the oath fee: from £5
- Notices for creditors: from £200
- Certainty missing will search: from £200
- Copy title documents: £6
- Bankruptcy searches against beneficiaries: £2 per name

Average timescales

On average, we expect to have the grant within 6-12 weeks of being instructed. Simple estates can usually be wound up within 3-6 months. More complex estates where there is Inheritance Tax are usually wound up within 6-12 months.

Potential Additional Costs

If your matter does have unexpected complications, we will always inform you, including any additional fees that may apply, so that you can make an informed decision as to how to proceed. Examples are listed as to demonstrate when our costs may increase:

- If under an intestacy the beneficiaries are not known, and we need to liaise with genealogists to establish a family tree and entitlement under the estate
- If the estate consists of foreign assets and we have to liaise with lawyers in that country
- If there are lots of individual shareholdings which need to be dealt with on a company by company basis
- Deeds of variation

Additional costs will also apply if you wish for us to deal with the sale or transfer of any property in the estate. Please refer to the detailed information available from our Residential Property webpage.
